Dear Administrator Johnson and EPA staff: I urge you to take immediate action and rule that carbon dioxide and other global warming pollutants clearly "endanger the public health and welfare" and thus should be regulated under the Clean Air Act. Carbon dioxide (CO2) pollution is the primary cause of the climate crisis. We're already seeing dramatic and dangerous climate effects today, and the climate crisis threatens the very livability of our planet for our children. We must reduce CO2 pollution now. Rather than continue to rely on polluting fossil fuels, we can "Repower America" by using energy sources that don't emit CO2, and make the switch to 100% clean electricity. What is more important for the EPA to be doing right now??
